

On the Road with the Migrant Caravan

A Conversation with Journalist Alice Driver

National Geographic • Time • Longreads • Reveal • CNN

MONDAY, APRIL 8 • 12:00-1:00 PM
ZIMMERMAN LIBRARY, WILLARD ROOM

Join the Latin American & Iberian Institute and Department of Political Science for a presentation with invited guest speaker Dr. Alice Driver, a bilingual journalist based in Mexico City whose work focuses on migration, human rights and gender equality. She writes for National Geographic, Time, Longreads and CNN and is currently producing a radio story for Reveal from the Center for Investigative Reporting.

For the past two years, Alice Driver has covered migration along the US-Mexico border and throughout Central America, and she has witnessed how US policies have affected migrants and people living along the border. Driver will explore the border with curiosity and you will travel with her as she discusses her work on migration with National Geographic, Time, Longreads, Reveal and CNN.

Photo © Cambrai Harkey

Latin American & Iberian Institute • Department of Political Science

laii.unm.edu