Join LAI and GEO to learn more about the foreign language and study abroad funding opportunities listed below.

Foreign Language and Area Studies Fellowship: The FLAS Fellowship supports the study of less- commonly taught languages, area studies, and international competencies related to Latin America.

Boren Awards: Boren Awards support the study of critical languages and cultural field studies of world regions that are under represented in study abroad.

Critical Language Scholarship: CLS provides opportunities for American college and university students to study languages and cultures essential to America's engagement with the world.

Benjamin A. Gilman International Scholarship: The Gilman Scholarship Program enables students of limited financial means to study or intern abroad, providing them with skills critical to our national security and economic prosperity. To be eligible for the Gilman Program, applicants must be receiving a Federal Pell Grant.

Freeman-Asia Program: The Freeman-Asia Program supports U.S.-based undergraduates with demonstrated financial need who are planning to study abroad in East or Southeast Asia.
