

Inaugural Event

The Hitchcock-Kelly Fund for Human and Indigenous Peoples' Rights

S. JAMES ANAYA

University Distinguished Professor and the Nicholas Doman Professor of International Law at the University of Colorado Law School, B.A. from UNM Economics, J.D. from Harvard Law School, and Former United Nations Special Rapporteur on the rights of Indigenous Peoples

7:00 PM (MDT)

MONDAY, APRIL 24, 2023

ANTHROPOLOGY 163

(Park in the C Lot)

Keynote Address by Professor James Anaya

"Ideas about Human Rights and Indigenous Peoples"

Ideas about human rights have been generated through thinking about the essence of human dignity. Professor Anaya will explore ideas about fundamental human rights and how they have been seized upon to support Indigenous peoples and their demands to survive and flourish in the world.

Sponsored by:

NATIVE
AMERICAN STUDIES

DEPARTMENT OF ANTHROPOLOGY

LATIN AMERICAN
& IBERIAN INSTITUTE

QUESTIONS:

505.277.3917 - NAS.UNM.EDU

505.277.4524 - ANTHROPOLOGY.UNM.EDU

SPECIAL THANKS!

A special thanks to Melinda Kelly & Robert Hitchcock for their generous donation. The Hitchcock-Kelly Fund for Human and Indigenous Peoples' Rights provides support for collaborative projects and programs implemented by the departments of Anthropology and Native American Studies.