with artist Alice Leora Briggs, whose artwork comprises the museum’s current exhibition “In the Wake of Juárez: The Drawings of Alice Leora Briggs.” The artist will discuss the work she made in Juárez between 2007 and 2012. The city was and remains the center of the Mexican drug wars, and these drawings are part of a larger mission to understand why the “uncivilized” is such an integral part of the “civilized” in modern life.
