Architecture Students Propose Alternatives to Trump's Wall

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26, 2017 @ 12:00 PM
GEORGE PEARL HALL, P133

Please join us to hear from SA+P students as they speak about their research developing alternatives to the new wall that President Trump is proposing between the US and Mexico. A product of the entire semester, the research shows a wide array of approaches and ideas. The students, who are enrolled in the course ARCH402: Border Studio taught by Dr. Ane Gonzalez Lara, would like to share their results with the rest of the campus and open up a conversation to see how architects, designers, and scholars in general can contribute to the matter.
