

The UNM Latin American & Iberian Institute
announces its call for applications for

FIELD RESEARCH GRANTS

APPLICATION DEADLINE: MARCH 19, 2014

FIELD RESEARCH GRANTS SUPPORT
GRADUATE AND FACULTY FIELD
RESEARCH IN LATIN AMERICA,
SPAIN, OR PORTUGAL.

Graduate student field research grants provide support for graduate students in any department at UNM to conduct field work in Latin America. The grants are meant to assist students in obtaining their first or second field research experience. Grants provide funding for airfare, in-country transportation, and some field expenses.

Faculty field research grants provide UNM faculty members opportunities to begin field work on new projects or to complete, supplement, or add a comparative dimension to field research previously conducted. Grants provide funding for airfare, in-country transportation, and some field expenses.

*Additional restrictions apply. For more information, email commlaii@unm.edu, call (505) 277-7049, or visit the LAII online: <http://laii.unm.edu/funding>
