

Oaxaca Ingobernable Exhibit Closing Meet and Greet

Dr. Alan Shane Dillingham
Arizona State University

Friday, March, 28 2025 | 9:30 AM | LAII Conference Room (801 Yale Blvd NE)

Come and ask Dr. Dillingham questions about history, graduate school, Native American & Latin American society; or simply, learn more about his work!

Alan Shane Dillingham Alan Shane Dillingham is an Associate Professor of History at Arizona State University. He received his doctoral degree in history from the University of Maryland. Having previously taught at multiple liberal arts institutions, Dillingham seeks to connect the history and politics of Native peoples across the Americas in his teaching and scholarship.

Dillingham's award-winning first book, Oaxaca Resurgent: Indigeneity, Development, and Inequality in Twentieth-Century Mexico (Stanford University Press, 2021), traces the contested history of Mexican indigenista policy and how Indigenous peoples of southern Mexico advocated for alternative forms of development and anticolonial education. The American Society for Ethnohistory selected Oaxaca Resurgent for its 2022 Erminie Wheeler-Voegelin Book Award and the Conference on Latin American History selected Oaxaca Resurgent for its 2023 María Elena Martínez Prize in Mexican History.
